- Thomas "Kungen" Bengtsson
Guild Leader of Nihilum Mousesports MMO

The worldwide interest and effort to push World of Warcraft to eSports standards is an ongoing process we observed very intensely. With the stronger support by Blizzard and an evergrowing PvP-Community, we thought it is the perfect time to come up with our own Arena team. After doing some research we found the right players to build that team, and we are glad to announce such a promising and talented squad. Nihilum is looking forward to some interesting and thrilling competition.
